

At Arnett & Burgess we recognize that privacy is important.

A&B does not collect any personal information about visitors to this web site other than that which is specifically and knowingly provided by you. We may collect information you provide, such as personal information submitted through our employment application, which we transmit using HTTPS and store behind a firewall on our secure servers. By submitting any information to us, you are consenting to the collection of the submitted information for reasonable internal business purposes.

A&B may collect and maintain statistics relating to the number of visits to the site, types of browsers used and Internet Protocol address of the originator. This information is kept strictly confidential by A&B and is used for internal web improvement purposes only.

A&B only collects information for the purpose of recruiting/employing personnel, employing contractors, servicing customers, handling information requests and other purposes directly required to conduct our business activities. We restrict access to personal information to A&B employees who need to know that information in order to perform their job function (i.e. Safety Officer, Human Resources, and Management).

Personal information will not be transferred to any third party unless we receive permission from you.

Personal information means information about an identifiable individual, except business title and business contact information when used or disclosed for business communications, and includes information about prospective, present or former employees and external parties such as suppliers and other individuals.

If you have any concerns relating to the privacy or confidentiality of this site, please contact us at info@abpipeliners.com.
